Still no system has been yet matured. We are discussing the question in San Francisco, but do not wish to work alone. We want an interchange of opinions all over the State, and to formulate the best plan resulting from discussion of the subject. We would ask that you consider it, and formulate your ideas so that they can be presented at the next session of the State Bar Association, in August."

John Haynes, Esq., made a brief speech, heartily approving all that had been said by the President and particularly the suggestion of intermediate appellate courts to relieve the Surpreme Court of the tremendous pressure upon it. As to the jurisdiction of the intermediate courts, he thought they should have it in all cases excepting constitutional questions and in they should have it in all cases excepting constitutional questions and in cases of felony. Appeals by this means would be so diminished that the court of last resort could easily handle all cases.

Richard Dunnigan, Esq., also spoke in favor of the intermediate appellate court suggestion, referring to the practice in Illinois, but thought that in every felony, except that jeopardizing life, the intermediate courts should be final.

A. M. Stephens, Esq., to get the sense of the meeting, offered a resolution that appellate courts be created by Constitutional amendment, and that the present Supreme Court be the court of last resort, with seven judges, at tyresent the template the court of the court of the court of last resort, with seven judges.

court of last resort, with seven judges as at present, the number to be gradually reduced to five as the terms of the present incumbents expire.

Alexander Campbell, Esq., thought the thing to do will be for the bar all over the State to unite on a feasible plan. He thought the reforms suggested should not only be carried out, but that there should be reforms in the practice before courts, simplifying forms.

James H. Shankland Esq., offered as a substitute a resolution calling on the Los Angeles Bar Association to appoint a committee, and put in shape the views of the bar of this city.

I stribute th all kinds of rumors flying around regarding the change of management of the Cross road. Whenever anything was said on this subject, in the hearing of President Cross, he vigorously denied that there was the slightest foundation for such stories. He claims to have enough stock to hold his own, and, if the other stockholders are dissatisfied with his management, he knows nothing about it. That the St. Louis stockholders were dissatisfied with Mr. Cross there is no doubt, and, if there is any truth in the report that was flying around the streets yesterday, Mr. Cross will be relieved some time in June. It is said that Thomas B. Burnett, late general superintendent of the Peoria and Pekin Union Railway, who resigned a position of $5000 a year, is now in the city, and a letter has been received from a St. Louis stockholder saying that Mr. Burnett has been appointed general manager of the Cross road. By an examination of these two contracts it will be manifest that there was no competition in the bids, but rather a combination to obtain from the city an exorbitant price for this pipe.

As evidence of the fact that there was a combination before submitting these bids, look at the schedule of prices outlined in these contracts:

Moreover, why should we pay for 20-inch pipe $1.32 to the Pacific Clay Company, when we can get it from the California Sewer Pipe Company for $1.32? and why, again, should we pay the California Company $1.14 for 18-inch pipe when we can get it from the Pacilic Company for $1.18?

The city should not, nor should property-holders required to pay for sewers, be victims of a corner in sewer pipe just as we are entering into extensive sewer improvements. I would recommend a rejection of all bids for furnishing the city with sewer pipe, and again re-advertise for bids, fixing in the bid a fair price, and to that end I think it would be well for the Committee on Sowers to ascertain what is a good, fair, remunerative price, and after ascertaining the same, provide that no bid shall be considered in excess of the price so fixed. Respectfully, HERRY T. HAZARD, Mayor.

Young Wooley and Frank Fish, two of the men supposed to have been concerned in the discreditable affair in the Vienna Buffet last Monday evening, wherein a disturber of the exercises was cowhided by one of the female singers, called at the TIMES office yesterday and put in their disclaimers. Fish said that he was not present, as he does not attend such places, and Wooley, while admitting that he received a blow on his arm from the rawhide, said it was undeserved, as he had taken no part in the interruption. He said he proposed to wait on the young woman and make explanations.

Details of a So-called Scheme Invade and Capture Lower California-The "Disclosure."

The San Diego Union yesterday morning published a long account of a new filibustering schem the capture of Lower California and the Express of last evening repeated it. The details of the Mulhatton-like story are even more roseate than those connected with the Mulkey episode of about a Qu that occasion J. K. Mulkey, who had been interviewed by a reporter about a rumor of a proposed "expedition," came to THE TIMES office, made quite a lengthy denial of the truth of the story and it was published in The Times. The Union, in intro-ducing the latest story, speaks of the former story as follows:

former story as follows:

As a matter of fact Mulkey's scheme was not a fiction, but the publicity thus given to it necessarily proved fatal.

Mulkey's fillibastering scheme against Lower Californis failed, but the idea survived and, as will appear from what follows, was transplanted to San Diego where it took root and developed into another scheme of a similar nature which it becomes the Union's duty this morning to expose.

thus introduced gives an account of the plottings of men, and it is deemed necessary to preface it with the statement that it is not a "fake," but a record of "actual, though somewhat sensational, facts." There can be no doubt that the details are sensational; doubt that the details are sensational; the newspaper was remaining within strict bounds of correctness in using "The prime movers," it says, "are San Diego men, at mention of whose names the wonder will be excited that names the wonder will be excited that some who have countenanced the scheme were ever induced even to listen to a discussion of the proposition at their hands. The cotorie of San Diegans who were athirst for conquest sought to take advantage of certain supposed favorable conditions. Among these was the alleged dissatisfaction of both American and Mexican settlers on the peninsula. leged dissatisfaction of both American and Mexican settlers on the peninsula, including miners at Alamo and else-where; the restlessness of the Mexican Land and Colonization Company under the restraints and conditions imposed by the Mexican government and the annexation sentiment that exists north of the boundary in Southern California. Out of these conditions it was expected to evolve the means and the men to accomplish the purposes of the schemers.

THE SCHEME,

as it is supposed to have existed, insure-enough conquest by force, and the Declaration of Indeendence, no doubt written in B. A. tephena's most ornate style, is said to ave already been in pickle for use at the proper time. As told, the plan as been in source of preparation for is editor. He was informed by the latter that there were plans on foot to capture Lower Californies that the Mexican Land and Colonization Company had pledged $1,000,000 in support of the plan, and that all the money necessary would be forthcoming. Stephens was taken to the San Diego Sun office, where Walter G. Smith, its editor, confirmed the story. A conference was held at the Coronado the next evening, at which Merrill, Stephens, Smith and Edward Hill were present.

Stephens, Smith and Edward Hill were present.

At the conference Mr. Hill personally pledged, so the story goes, $5000 for immediate use, and said that he could wouch for $20,000 more; and that the English company would refund it later; that he would go East and see about the cost of arms, ammunition, and the best means of shipping them to San Diego. He said the scheme had been practically indersed by the English company, with the exception of the president, Sir Edward Jenkinson. He referred to the indisposition of the President to "stand in" on account of the Monroe doctrine, position of the President to "stand in" on account of the Monroe doctrine, and still his disinclination to be bled by Mexican officials. Mr. Hill said he had with Mr. Smith seen Maj. Buchanan Scott at Eusemada, manager of the English company, and that he was heartily in favor of the scheme, outlining a plan for the capture of the peninsula. It included the storage of arms and provisions in the company's warehouses.

The plan was to

SPRING THE INSURBECTION on a night when a fandango would be given at the Hotel Iturbide, at Ensenada, to which all the Mexican officials should be invited. The guests were to be made drunk, and they should be captured, the revolutionists then to start upon a brilliant career. At this same interview it was stated that letters had been sent to Sir Edward Jonkinson about the "boodle" ward Jenkinson about the "boodle" required.

Mr. Merrill gave the details of the scheme to "Capt." J. F. Janes, who is the editor of what is is known as the San Pedro Shipping Gazette, published in Los Angeles. The doughty Captain was to raise an expedition, but rejuctantly postponed his design to join the San Diego revolutioniscs.

There were several conferences, when it was decided to have a council of fifteen, from whom the officers to govern the pehinsula should be selected. The first meeting of the council was at the office of the Informant. April 7th, in the evening. One of the members present was delegated to ascertain the forces necessary to take and hold Ensenada; to obtain plans of the barracks, and ascertain generally what would be the feeling toward a revolution. He went to Ensenada and reported that he had seen Scott, who indorsed the scheme.

ALL FIXED. Monday, April 21st, the council held Monday, April 21st, the council held another meeting and one April 23d, at which Mr. Smith read a declaration of independence and also draft of his inaugural address as Governor-General. Augustus Merrill read his plan for the military establishment; Ranford Worthing a scheme of finance; B. A. Stephens, a Constitution for the Republic of Lower California, to be established about August 1, 1890. The following officers were selected, some being left vacant: eing left vacant:

The design of a flag was adopted.

This flag was to consist of a red field.

At this meeting, also, Augustus Merrill reported that an officer of the meetings were held. Janes published some hints of the scheme in his paper at Los Angeles, April 26th, and this rather alarmed the schemers. Merrill and Smith resolved to see Janes, and Merrill did go on May 4th and Smith a week later. Merrill reported that Janes thought there was boodle in it and he was not getting any of it, but that his mind had been relieved by what Merrill told him. When Smith went to Los Angeles the Union inserted among its personals these words:

there never fulfilled, obtained from the Mexican government a large concession of land in Lower California, with the understanding that a certain number of industrious farmers, with families, should be colonized upon the lands within a specified time. Only a tithe of that number were inveigled into visiting those arid and sterile lands, and they soon returned, leaving only a refuse population—the seum of civilization, which always emigrates when there is a chance for robbery and rapine. Finally, the International Company came to financial grief, and there was a wailing among creditors. In order to get the requisite number of people to settle upon the lands, false reports were circulated by the company in this city and the New York branch of the outfit, that gold had been discovered in Lower California, and that it could be scooped up by the bucketful. A large number of that class of people who never die, rushed to the so-called diggings; those who had money rushed back; others came by slow stages on foot.

The International Company having gone its length by deception and misrepresentation, transferred what it

The International Company having gone its length by deception and misrepresentation, transferred what it called its vested rights to what is now called the "Mexican Land and Colonization Company." Finding it impossible, by reason of the sterility of the lands, the almost entire absence of water, and the prohibitory and proscriptive measures of the Mexican Government to settle those lands, and the further likelihood of forfeiting them, a wild and visionary scheme of "annexation" or "conquest" is being agitated. A few land sharks, adventurers and newspaper "hackwriters," who have failed at everything else, have met in the back room of a long-primer real-estate advertising circular in San Diego, and organized a "filibustering expedition," to revolutionize Lower California with the object of annexing it to the United States. They think, doubtless, that by this means, those lands, barren of everything, excepting sand, gophers and snakes, would be of some value. These valiant warriors also want

PREPARING FOR "WAR."

After this meeting was held Merrill commenced to recruit men. No other meetings were held. Janes published some hints of the scheme in his paper at Los Angeles, April 28th, and this rather alarmed the scheme in his paper at Los Angeles, April 28th, and this material states. Merrill reported that Janes thought there was boodle in it and he was not getting any of it, but that his mind had been relieved by what Merrill teld him. When Smith went to Los Angeles the Union inserted among its personals these words:

This throw the filibusters into confusion, and they remained quiet until the expose of yesterday, which effectually knocks the scheme (if there was one) in the head.

Dr. King, the eminent medical writer, in a learned disquisition on our national complaint, constipation, says:

The great quantity of cathartic pills, etc., which are annually swallowed by the people of this country has been productive of immensely more mischief than is generally suspected. True, the physic unloads the bowels, but in so doing its action tends to diminish the tone of the intestines; so that, instead of removing the costiveness, if agravates it, leaving the bowels in a more torpid condition.

Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparills was designed to fill just such a contingency as the doctor's arraignment anticipates, viz.: instead of being a powerful mineral purgative, it is a mild vegetable laxative, that, owing to its solvent and gentle stimulating properties, is so certain a relief in constipation that it has been given away to hundreds, not to be paid for unless it was of positive benefit. It replaces constipation almost immediately with a natural casy habit, and is so mild that, unlike drastic purgatives, it can be taken indefinitely with perfect freedom and safety.

MANUFACTURES IN THE CENSUS

The Superintendent of the Census anxious to secure the cooperation of manufacturers throughout the counof manufactures for the report of the census will be inaugurated throughout the entire country on the 2d of next month. The value of the report naturally depends wholly upon the accuracy and thoroughness with which manuanswer the questions propounded. The Superintendent has ent out a circular upon this subject, from which we make the following ex tracts: The personal interests of every manufact turer are involved in the character of the report on manufactures. It will be quoted for the next ten years as the official announcement of the exact industrial condition of the country, and will be the basis for any future legislation that may be enacted in regard to the wants of our people, whether engaged in agricultural or mechanical pursuits. Therefore it is of vital importance to each manufacturer that an accurate report shall be made.

Every manufacturer should bear in mind that his answers to the questions relating to his business are held strictly confidential, are not disclosed to any competitor or to other persons, and are not used by the Government as predicate for the purposes for taxation or license, or in any way to ad-

Efforts have been made this evening to discover the identity of the body found floating in the bay today, and which gave every appearance of brutal murder having been committed. SARATOGA (N. Y.), May 21 .- [By the Associated Press.] In the Presbyterian General Assembly today a resolution urging Congress to pass the bill now before it for investigating the effects of intoxicating liquors was adopted.

A resolution asking Congress to pass an amendment to the interstate commerce law to enable States to prohibit or restrict the liquor traffic was referred to a committee.

Rev. Dr. Burrill delivered a lengthy report on foreign missions. The total receipts of the board during the year were $794,066 from churches, $291,791 from Sabbath-schools, $36,062 from women's boards, $280,285 from leg-acies, and $75,120 from miscellaneous ources. There was a decrease of $58,-749 compared with last year, and there is at present a deficit of $60,275. An urgent appeal is made to the assembly to study the report, and say why the great falling off in receipts occurred.

part of the special committee. At the first meeting called only three members of the publication board could be present, and the special committee sat as an inquisition and refused to give the data on which they based their charges. Simmons sent a circular all over the land asking questions, the answers to which were to be considered confidential, as to the prevailing dissatisfaction with the board. "We assured Simmons," he said, "we did not propose to vote as a joint committee and not to overrule his committee by our greater number. The special committee has misunderstood us, and this has prevented confidence. In its report are many misrepresentations, doubtless unintentional. We never saw it until the meeting of the assembly."

Regarding the statement of the special committee that a responsible special committee that a responsible firm has offered to do the work for a less price than the board does. Dr. Agnaw went on to defend the publication board at great length, and, in a spirited manner, he censured the special committee for making serious charges, implying carelesaness or crooxedness, without careful investigation. He asserted that a proper investigation would show that the publication board was right.

After considerable further discussion, in which Dr. Herrick Johnson of Chicago and Dr. Howard Crosby took part, Graham's motion of yesterday, for the appointment of a commission to investigate the matter, was adopted.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), May 21.-[By Associated Press.] Senate.-In the Senate the resignation of Sergeantat-Arms Canada was received and laid on the table.

The Silver Bill was taken up, and Mr. Stewart proceeded to address the Senate. He argued that the demonetization of silver had depressed the prices of commodities from 30 to 40 per cent., and the remonetization would produce good times again. The object of the silver men was to furnish oney, to stop contraction, to relieve debtor and producer, and pre-serve to the people their rights of property and liberty. The Republican party had incorporated in its national platform a declaration in favor of oth gold and silver, and condemning the policy of the Democratic adminison in its efforts to demonetize r. The bill recommended by silver. The bill recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury and supported by Senators Sherman and Doiph was a cunning device to stop the present coinage of $2,000,000 a month in silver under the Bland Bill. In conclusion, he said there was no middle ground in the contest between neury and justice. The demonetization of silver was a crime against civilization, and nothing but full restoration of that metal to the place which it occupied before the crime was committed could redress the wrong or redeem the pledge of the Republican party.

deem the pledge of the Republican party.

Mr. Eustis asked Mr. Stewart whether his interpretation of the silver plank of the Republican platform (that it meant the free coinage of silver) was the recognized interpretation of the party.

Mr. Stewart replied it could have no other interpretation, and added that he himself had drawn that plank.

Mr. Farwell: I was a member of the committee on resolutions of the last National Republican Convention, and I desire to express my dissent to the opinion given by the Senator from Nevada. No such interpretation was considered by that committee.

Mr. Stewart: What does it mean?

Mr. Farwell: That the party was in favor of silver money at the market price of silver. I drew the resolution, as the Senator well knows, and it was porfectly honest and fair. It meant that the Government should bay silver and coin it at the rate at which it should cost the Government.

Mr. Evarts argued in support of it, and in answer to the constitutional objections urged against it, asserted that whatever State police regulations can be exercised within a State are outside of the jurisdiction of the general Government. The police regulations of a State could not be bombarded from the outside under cover of the exclusive power of Congress over commerce.

House.—The scene in the House this morning was confusing, if not exciting. The object of members on both sides seemed to be to outvie each other in creating a noise rather than to give any intelligent consideration to the tariff bill. It was often impossible to understand what was being said, applause and laughter and cries of "louder" drowning the voices of speakers. No respect was given to the rules and no attention was paid to the recognition of the chairman, and uproar was the order of the hour.

When the House first met and went into committee of the whole on the tariff, Mr. Baker of New York offered an amendment providing that all articles of importation to the United States, whether embraced in the free list or otherwise, shall pay no less a rate of duty than imposed by the country of export on like articles imported into the United States.

Mr. Butterworth opposed the amendment, and said be regretted there was no opportunity to ascertain a concensus of opinion on his own side of the House touching this. Democratic applausa! The committee of the political of the plausa.

of opinion on his own side of the House touching this. [Democratic applause.] The committee of the whole had proceeded along the lines of the bill for a number of days. Then a gentleman from the Committee on Ways on Means had taken the floor and held it with amendments until nearly the last hour, so that amendments which other gentlemen might desire to submit could not have the consideration necessary to determine what the consensus of opinion was. It was not fixed that the ark of the Republican covenant was committed to a

This leaves the duty at twice the duty on unwashed wool and 40 per cent, ad valorem.

The Republicans who voted with the Democrats on the wool and worsted goods and yall amendments were: Messrs. Anderson (Kan.), Comstock, Dolliver, Dunnell, Featherstone, Flick, Henderson (Iowa), Kerr (Iowa), Lacey,

An amendment imposing a duty of 50 per cent. ad valorem on all manufactures of silk not specially provided for, providing that in all such manufactures if wool or the hair of the camel or goat, or like animals, is a component material it shall be classified as a manufacture of wool, was agreed to—yeas, 155; nays, 142.

The vinegar amendment adopted last night in committee of the whole was adopted—yeas, 124; nays, 38.

This was the last amendment, and the engressment and third reading of the bill having been ordered, Mr. Carlisle offered the following amendment: Resolved, that the pending bill be committed to the Committee on Ways and Means, with instructions to report the same back to the House at the earliest possible day, a mended as to reduce the revenues of the Government by reducing the burdens of taxation on the people instead of reducing the duties by imposing prohibitory rates of taxation upon imported goods. ### THE CAMPAIGN

For the Closing of Saloons on Sunday.

JUSTICE TO ALL CONCERNED.

Dr. Crafts's Address Last Night on a Logical and Convincing

Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts spoke in favorof Sunday observance before a fair-sized audience at the First Presbyterian Church last evening. His address, in substance, was as follows:

What is it that causes the needless Sunday work? Selfishness—of two kinds: The selfishness of the miser seeking superfluous money, and the selfishness of the prodigal seeking shameful indulgences. This selfishness might be defeated if its victims would but combine against it, as your butch-might be defeated if its victims would but combine against it, as your butchers have done.

Mr. Talmage is wont, on Thanksgiving day, when he gives, with other statistics, the number of hogs sold by our Nation in the year, to life is hands our Nation in the year, to littens hands over his congregation and say: "And see how many are left still." It is chiefly the hoggishness of the rich seeking money and of the poor seeking indulgence that keeps three millions in our country (besides those engaged in works of morey and necessity) in nday slavery.

Almost every man wants to rest on Sunday himself, but many careavery little bow many others they deprive of their rest day.

The law of humanity, even in California, calls every man to rest on Sunin such a way as not to destroy the day of others. Selfishness cries

"SUNDAY LIBERTY," meaning liberty for one at the cost of the slavery of many. "Liberty" is in-deed the very word to express the central idea of the American Sabbath, not liberty for one or apart but for all, liberty to rest, liberty for home-fellowship, liberty for culture of conscience, a weekly independence day. In King weekly independence day. In King John's day the barons compelled him to give them the great charter of liberty—liberty for barons but not for the people. Your Sunday liberty means liberty to the pleasure-seekers at the cost of the amusement-venders, who are serfs indeed, when they have not even time Sundays for rest.

When we indice the Sundays aloon

When we indite the Sunday-saloon

Larrestiles saids Sunday as a day of the stare upheld, not from any right of the forenment to izglishe for the pronotion of religious observances, but from its right up to the start of the protect all persons from the physical and soral debasement which comes from unin-crupted labor. Such laws have always been deemed beneficent and meroiful laws, specially to the poor and dependent, to the abovers in our factories and workshops, and in the heated rooms of our cities; and helr validity has been sustained by the lighest courts of the States.

Here we have an authoritativa nice.

Here we have an authoritative picture of the American Sabbath. That any State has a right to establish such a day is really conceded by the leaders of all divisions of the opposition in the a day is really conceded by the leaders of all divisions of the opposition in the following passages:

WHAT FRIENDS OF TRE CIVIL SABBATH CLAIM ITS FOES ADMIT.

Prof. A. T. Jones, the leader of the Seventh Day Adventists, whose main argument I have been considering, in his address at the Sunday-rest hearing in Washington, after denying the right of government to legislate about anything in the first four commandments, admitted enough, in response to a question about Mormons, to justify the civil Sabbath. He said (italics ours): "If, in the exercise of his religious convictions, under the first four commandments, he invades the rights of his metabor, then the civil government says that it is uniswful. Why? Because it is irreligious, or because it is immoral? Not at all; but because the incivil, and for that reason only."

It is because men are so "uncivil," so unneighborly, that they "invade the rights" of their employés and their competitors to a weekly rest day, and their rights of conscience, that the civil government says. "That is unlawful."

In that same hearing, another Seventh-Day Adventist leader, Stephen M. Haskell, made the following admission:

"We do not say that the United States Government has no right to legislate in reference to certain days on which men may work, but we say it has no right to legislate with a view to enforcing as a religious ordinance or, religious observance certain days. There are certain days as fast days and thanksgiving days, in regard to the observance of which we make no question; but enforcing a religious observance or individuals is the point to which we object."

So do we all.

The leader of the Seventh-day Bantists.

The leader of the Seventh-day Baptists, Lev. A. H. Lewis, D.D., also "GAVE HIS CASE AWAY"

"GAVE HIS CASE AWAY"

by the following admission:

"Mr. Chairman, I rise for a word of personal explanation in regard to the 'giving away' which my friend, Dr. Johnson, seemed to discover. The committee will remember that I distinctly said that if the running of a railroad train on Sunday were determined or shown to be detrimental to the interests of the commonwealth 1 would not ask for that privilege. I did not agree that the running of a railroad train should be determined to be detrimental to the commonwealth upon the ground that Sunday is a sacred day, for I do not believe that; but for me to ask the privilege of doing any business that was proven upon scientific grounds and grounds well understood to be detrimental to the general interest of the Commonwealth would be a sign of bigotry rather than of intelligence. I therefore do not say I would consent to this prohibition upon the ground that Sunday is a sacred day, but on the ground that it would be inimical to the best interests of the Commonwealth."

That is precisely the ground on which Sunday trains are generally opposed and forbidden.

who represented logersoil's "Secular Union" at that hearing, said: "It would be legitimate for you to set apart ad y of rest; you do set apart holidays where the people take recreation, are exempted from work and the performance of public duties, and that is just about as far as you have any right to go."

proval of the speeches from which I have quoted, and made no dissent from these admissions.

The only other element of organized opposition to Sunday laws—one far lees violent than any of those previously mentioned—the Jews—was not represented at the hearing, but had its say during that same week, in that same city, in an address against "the Puritanic Sabbath," by Rabbi Joseph Krauskopf, D. D., who made an admission as like the Others as the peas in a pod, in the following paragraph:

others as the peas in a pod, in the following paragraph:

"Beyond the recognition, on hygienic grounds, that the human body needs one day out of every seven for rest and recreation, and beyond legalizing that day as Sabbath which is preterred by the greatest number of the people, and beyond protecting that day as much as is consistent with its authority, the State has no other duties in connection with the Sabbath."

That is pedestal enough to hold any Sabbath law in the United States.

These six admissions show clearly that the opponents of the Sabbath are butting at their own shadows, fighting as one that beaten the air against the enforcement of a religious observance of the Sabbath, which is nowhere attempted.

To a pastor, calling on a family of his parish, the father said: "If don't see why my boys aim't better boys. I make 'em get down and pray every night, and if they won't get down I knock 'un down; and yet they ain't good." It is seriously argued by our opponents that we propose a similar way of making them and others "good" by compulsory church-going. This will surely take the prize as the biggest of all bugbears.

AGAIN IN TROUBLE.

AGAIN IN TROUBLE.

Bidwell at His Old Tricks of Giving

J. F. Bidwell is a man of small ideas of finance, and takes desperate chances for a small amount of money. Last Monday he wanted a few dollars, and Monday he wanted a few dollars, and he concluded the hest way to get the money was to buy something and issue a check. He went to J. T. Sheward's and bought 60 cents worth of goods, and drew a check for $5 on the University Bank, a bank where benever had a deposit. Yesterday Mr. Sheward discovered that the check was worthless, when he swore out a warrant against the promising fellow, and he was arrested by Officer Collins.

Bidwell is very free in issuing checks, but very moderate as to the amounts,

NOTE AND COMMENT. PLANT more shade trees.

THE clouds kept Old Sol in hiding all of yesterday.

THE Southern Pacific officials gave Pasadena the go-by.

EAST COLORADO STREET should not be behind some of the less important thoroughfares in the matter of shade frees.

CENSUS guessers are getting in their work. Guesses on the population of Pasadena, inside the city limits, range om five thousand to eighty-five hun-

THE base-ball nine must come. The material is here, the grounds are here.
Organization under a competent manager is alone needed. After this—the brass band.

THERE were eight inches of snow in Dakota last week, and the farmers there are reported as feeling "jubi-lant." People who are fortunate enough to live in Southern California are not so easily pleased.

In Paris every one has a bouquet. At this season of the year the sale of flowers there reaches $25,000 daily. In Pasadens every one can have a bou-uet, if they want one, for the picking Victor Sturtevant has returned from a trip to the Sandwich Islands. The Huntington party passed through town yesterday on their way east.

C. S. Martin and several companions went to Mt. Wilson yesterday. They will be absent several days.

Rev. William Ormiston, D.D., arrived Tuesday by the overland. He had a continuous stream of visitors for hours after his arrival, all glad to see him, and complimented him on his robust appearance, after his indisposition and fatigue from so long a journey. He will occupy his pulpit on Sunday.

The following is an abstract of the report of School Superintent Will S. Monroe for month ending May 16th:

PLAY BALL.

Good Material for a Local Nine—Organization Needed.

It is strange that Pasadena, with all her boasted attractions, should be lacking in that important essential to the prosperity of any progressive city, namely, a base-ball nine. There are plenty of ball toesers here, and several desirable locations for good grounds. What seems to be needed is for some one interested in the great National grounds to take the matter, in charge or

Our shade trees take an important part in making Pasadona the beautiful city she is. Visitors grow enthusiastic over the beauty of our shaded avenues, and the thoroughfares most thickly lined with pepper or other trees are invariably given the preference when it comes to selecting a site for a residence. Marengo, Moline and a portion of Mountain avenue are especially favored in this direction. If all our streets were shaded in a like manner, they would become equally attractive. The need of shade trees is particularly noticeable on East Colorado street. There is probably more travel over this street than any other thoroughfare in town. It is lined with handsome residences, that stand surrounded by well-kept lawns, flowers and rich foliage. But an air of completeness is lacking. The shade trees on the sidewalks are not there. On the north side of the street there are no trees to speak of east of Marengo avenue. The south side presents a better appearance, a number of good-sized trees being planted as far east as Madison avenue. East of this avenue the trees are few and far between, with the exception of those planted in front of J. W. Wood's handsome residence and the addoining-oropo-

of Memorial day:

Post commanders should request that no other persons or societies either mark or decorate the graves of our dead comrades until the post has completed its ceremonies. This is our day, and the initiatory should be left to us. After the old soldier, in marking and decorating the graves, is the rule our friends should observe, while we live, as it must be the rule when we are gone.

We most cordi-illy invite all persons, of whatever creed or political faith, to join us in the observance of Memorial day.

Farming as a Business.
[American Cuitivator.]

Andrew Carnegie argues, in a recent essay, that young men of ability and willing to work can yet achieve wealth and financial independence, as well as in the constant of the c willing to work can yet achieve wealth and financial independence, as well as in the generation now passing away. While it is not possible, without capital, to start manufacturing enterprises on a small scale and grow them up to success, there was never a time when exceptional ability to accomplish results was more eagerly sought for or better paid by corporations than now. He shows pretty plainly that the men able to command large salaries should not be content with wages, but should demand for their services an interest in the business and a share in the profits. Thus only can the rewards of exceptional ability be secured to those who are entitled to them. But for the large majority of men, who do not possess exceptional ability in one direction, farming is the best and surest road to independence. On the farm the tendency never has been and never will be to concentrate the business in few hands. The farmer on a small farm—can produce more cheaply than one who cultivates a large area by hired help. The great amount of rich, cheap land brought under cultivation within the past generation has for a time obscured this fact. Now that much of this land has become poor and needs frequent manuring to produce paying crops, the old plan of poorly cultivating a large acreage will no longer succeed. It is the day for the small farmer. Most of the failures in farming come from trying to spread over too much surface.
